Brand & Trademark — Get Goods Gratis (Free)

A single reference for the brand: name, slogan, logo, and the intended web address, plus the marks to protect. Prepared for counsel / brand review. Not legal advice — have your attorney confirm availability and handle any trademark filings and the domain purchase. All marks are shown in black and white; every drawing below is a USPTO-compliant filing image (grayscale JPEG, 250–944 px on each side, 350 DPI, under 5 MB), so an attorney can lift it straight from this document to file.

Slogan usage

- Present the slogan as “Where Global Goods Gather” (title case), typically beneath the wordmark.
- Today it appears in the site footer (under the wordmark) in the app UI. It is a brand tagline, not a claim about earnings, returns, or results — keep it descriptive of the marketplace, consistent with the platform’s advertising-value (never revenue/ROI) compliance posture.

Trademark & domain — for counsel

- Marks to consider protecting: the word mark “Get Goods Gratis”, the slogan “Where Global Goods Gather”, and the “G³” logo (design mark). Consider using ™ on first/prominent use now, and ® only after a registration issues.
- Drawings to file: the black-and-white drawings shown above. They are USPTO-spec (grayscale, 250–944 px, 350 DPI, under 5 MB); the filing-ready files are in the `Black and White Images` folder.
- Clearance: confirm the marks are available (USPTO / common-law search) and that the slogan and “Gratis” usage don’t conflict before filing or heavy use.
- Domain: getgoodsgratis.com is the intended address — verify it’s available and register it (a purchase; it can't be done from here). Consider grabbing close variants (`.co` , `.shop` , `.app` , and the `getgoodsgratis` handle on major platforms) to protect the brand.

- Nothing here is filed or reserved yet — this note just gathers the assets in one place for your attorney.
